
< T > LAPACK: a new linear algebra software package with mixed-precision capabilities

Julien Langou*¹

¹University of Colorado Denver – United States

Abstract

< T > LAPACK is a linear algebra software package written in C++ and as such, it is possible to develop mixed-precision capabilities. In this talk, we will showcase the software and explain what work is needed to enable mixed-precision support.

*Speaker